AUTHORIZING THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR TO TRANSFER
CERTAIN LANDS IN THE STATE OF COLORADO TO THE DEPART-MENT OF AGRICULTURE FOR RECREATION DEVELOPMENT

MARCH 1, 1966.—Committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union and ordered to be printed

Mr. BARING, from the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, submitted the following

R E P O R T

[To accompany H.R. 10451]

The Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H.R. 10451) to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to transfer certain lands in the State of Colorado to the Department of Agriculture for recreation development, and for other purposes, having considered the same, reports favorably thereon with amendments and recommends that the bill do pass.

The amendments are as follows:

Page 1, line 7, after "Reservoir," strike out "thereby extending" and insert "and".

Page 1, line 8, after "Colorado" insert "are extended".

PURPOSE

The principal purposes of H.R. 10451, by Congressman Aspinall, are to provide for the transfer of 3,880 acres of public land in Summit County, Colo., which are now administered by the Bureau of Land Management to the administration of the Forest Service; to revise the boundaries of the Arapaho National Forest to include these and certain other lands; and to authorize the Forest Service to enter into cooperative arrangements with the Board of Water Commissioners of the City and County of Denver for the management and development for recreational purposes of the Forest Service land in this area and of adjacent lands owned by the board of water commissioners.

NEED

The Denver Board of Water Commissioners has constructed Dillon Reservoir at the junction of the Blue River and Ten-Mile Creek, primarily for municipal water supply purposes. The reservoir has a 3,300-acre surface and a 26-mile perimeter. In addition to serving its primary purposes, Dillon Reservoir and the surrounding lands offer an important opportunity for outdoor recreation development. This the Forest Service proposes to undertake in accordance with its existing authority and with such funds as may be appropriated in due course by the Congress. Enactment of H.R. 10451 will assist in the development of a well-rounded recreation program at this site. It will also have the advantage of putting under the management of one Federal agency adjacent lands which are now administered by two such agencies.

The Dillon Reservoir area is within a 2-hour drive for over 1 million people. The surrounding territory already has a number of private winter sports developments. The undertaking proposed by the Forest Service will furnish outstanding opportunities for camping, hiking, and boating. Because of the use to which the reservoir is to be put however, swimming in it will not be allowed.

Part of the lands to be transferred to Forest Service administration lie in a long narrow band along the Blue River downstream from Dillon Reservoir; others are immediately around the reservoir and lie between it and the present boundaries of the Arapaho National Forest. The national forest borders these lands on three sides. There are no plans for acquisition of, or for Federal developments which might encroach on, private lands within the new boundaries of the national forest, but it is possible, the committee was advised, that some exchanges of land may be found desirable by private landowners and officials of the Forest Service. If this turns out to be the case, the Forest Service has authority to carry them out. The bill excepts from the transfer to the Forest Service about 275 acres of Bureau of Land Management land within the revised boundaries of the forest since this area has already been subdivided and is to be disposed of by the Bureau of Land Management under the Small Tracts Act.

AMENDMENTS

The committee recommends two amendments to the bill. Both are clarifying in nature.

COST

Enactment of H.R. 10451 will entail no cost to the Government.

DEPARTMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

The favorable reports of the Department of Agriculture and the Department of the Interior are set forth below:

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
Washington, D.C., October 25, 1965.

HON. WAYNE N. ASPINALL,
Chairman, Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs,
House of Representatives.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: This is in response to your August 25, 1965, request for a report on H.R. 10451, a bill to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to transfer certain lands in the State of Colorado to the Department of Agriculture for recreation development, and for other purposes.

We recommend that H.R. 10451 be enacted.

This bill would authorize the Secretary of the Interior to transfer to the Department of Agriculture lands under his jurisdiction needed in connection with development and management of the recreation resources of the Dillon Reservoir, a major impoundment on the Blue River in Colorado constructed by the Board of Water Commissioners of the City and County of Denver. The exterior boundaries of the Arapaho National Forest would be extended to include all those lands within described townships which are not now within the national forest. H.R. 10451 would add to the Arapaho National Forest, subject to existing valid rights, all lands of the United States within the described area except certain specifically described subdivisions known as the Dillon small tract site.

The bill also would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into cooperative arrangements with the Board of Water Commissioners of the City and County of Denver for the development and management of recreation resources at Dillon Reservoir and on adjacent lands within the Arapaho National Forest. Funds available to the Forest Service for forest land management would be available for the construction, operation, maintenance, and administration on water board lands of structures, improvements, and facilities for recreational resource development and use, provided the Secretary obtains the right to use such lands for the estimated life of or need for such improvements.

Land which would be included in the national forest under the bill comprises some 14,585 acres, of which approximately 3,880 acres are public domain under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Land Management of the Department of the Interior, and 2,780 acres owned by the water board. The remainder is privately owned or included in the Dillon small tract area.

These lands are part of a narrow corridor, 1 to 3 miles wide along the Blue River, bounded on three sides by the Arapaho National Forest. This corridor or narrow finger of land was not included in the National Forest when it was proclaimed in 1905. Much of it remains unpatented.

The dam creating the Dillon Reservoir is located within this corridor. The reservoir impoundment extends up into the corridor and also onto national forest land on both sides of the corridor. Within the maximum flow line of the reservoir there are approximately 900 acres of national forest land, 1,750 acres of water board land, and 650 acres of public domain land. Where the reservoir is not within the present boundaries of the national forest, the public domain lands, and the water board lands form relatively narrow strips between the reservoir and national forest lands.

The reservoir is in the filling stage and forms a highly attractive body of water that is already beginning to receive heavy public recreational use. Suitable recreation areas on nearby national forest lands are being improved to accommodate the growing public use. But the areas lying between the national forest and the reservoir are not being developed. Of the some 830 acres which ultimately should be intensively developed for visitor accommodation and to assure sanitation and public safety, over 80 percent are now national forest lands. In most instances the water board lands involved would be relatively narrow shoreline strips or small tracts adjoining national forest lands.

There is urgent need for unified management of all the public lands related to the reservoir to assure correlated and plan-wise development in the most effective and economical way, and to permit efficient protection and administration of the recreational and land management complex of which the reservoir is a part. Existing patterns in land ownership and jurisdiction result in illogical divisions of single sites that should be developed as units. In several instances, narrow rims or small areas of public domain or water board lands lie between the lake shore and national forest sites being developed or planned for development for public accommodation.

Timely accomplishment of a coordinated plan to develop and maintain recreational resources centering around the Dillon Reservoir, and correlation thereof with protection and use of surrounding national forest lands, which provide attractive environment and added public use opportunities, will be greatly facilitated by placing all related federally owned lands in the area in the national forest. Integrated development and use of all the reservoir shorelines will be made possible by section 3 of the bill which will permit the Forest Service to develop and manage water board lands which are intermingled with the Federal lands.

The Bureau of the Budget advises that there is no objection to the presentation of this report from the standpoint of the administration's program.

Sincerely yours,

ORVILLE L. FREEMAN,
Secretary.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY,
Washington, D.C., October 26, 1965.

HON. WAYNE N. ASPINALL,
Chairman, Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs,
House of Representatives,
Washington, D.C.

DEAR MR. ASPINALL: This responds to your request for our views on H.R. 10451, a bill to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to transfer certain lands in the State of Colorado to the Department of Agriculture for recreation development, and for other purposes.

We do not object to enactment of the bill.

The bill authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to transfer to the Department of Agriculture some 3,880 acres of public lands, which would thereupon become part of the Arapaho National Forest.

The exterior boundaries of the Arapaho National Forest are to be extended to include all lands within certain townships not now in the forest. The bill adds to the forest all Federal lands within the described area except certain lands called the Dillon small tract site. The Federal lands which would be added to the forest are the some 3,880 acres mentioned above. The bill also authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to make cooperative arrangements with the Board of Water Commissioners of the City and County of Denver for the development and management of the recreation resources of the Dillon Reservoir and adjacent lands within the Arapaho National Forest. Funds hereafter appropriated and available to the Forest Service for forest land management will be available for the construction, operation, and maintenance on lands of the water board of recreational facilities under certain conditions.

The basic purpose of the bill is to facilitate the development and management of these lands by the Federal Government and the Board of Water Commissioners of the city and county of Denver. The lands have high recreation value arising from the construction of the Dillon Reservoir on the Blue River by the water board.

Approximately 3,880 acres of the lands which would become part of the national forest are public domain under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Land Management. These lands are part of a narrow corridor, 1 to 3 miles wide along the Blue River, bounded on three sides by the Arapaho National Forest. This corridor was not included in the forest when it was established in 1905. The addition of the approximately 3,880 acres to the national forest, in the light of the other holdings of the Forest Service in the area, would aid in the development and management of the recreational resources of the Dillon Reservoir, and consequently is desirable.

The Bureau of Land Management and Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture have made detailed land adjustments studies in this area designed to simplify administration and improve manpower utilization and resource management. As a result of these studies, the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture have agreed that all the public domain lands in the Blue River corridor presently under BLM administration (15,891 acres) should be transferred to the Forest Service. As a part of the same adjustment, approximately 23,827 acres of lands in the Blue River and Castle Peak areas presently administered by the Forest Service would be transferred to Interior administration. H.R. 10451 accomplishes only part of these proposed transfers.

We would prefer that the bill be enlarged to make all of the transfers contemplated. We have no objection, however, to the enactment of the bill in its present form if that is the desire of Congress. If the committee desires to enlarge the bill we shall be glad to furnish the necessary land descriptions.

The Bureau of the Budget has advised that there is no objection to the presentation of this report from the standpoint of the administration's program.

Sincerely yours,

HARRY R. ANDERSON,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

fiscal year will be $240 million. These costs are fully provided for in the budget which I submitted to the Congress in January.

The Federal Government is the largest employer in the Nation. The largest employer has an undeniable responsibility to lead, and not merely to follow, in instituting and adhering to model employment practices.

A model employer can demand excellence in performance. A model employer can demand continuing awareness of the need for greater productivity, more imaginative conduct of Government programs, and substantial cost reduction. We have made those demands.

Federal officers and employees at all levels have responded with enthusiasm and skill. If they had not been determined to improve the efficiency and economy of Government operations, budget costs in both 1966 and 1967 would be some $3 billion higher than they are.

By the close of this fiscal year, the total compensation for our 2½ million Federal civilian employees will be $20.4 billion a year. With expenditures of such magnitude, the President, the Congress, and Federal employees themselves, cannot fail to give the most careful consideration to every adjustment in pay, retirement, and health benefits. Each proposed adjustment must not only be merited, it should also be consistent with the principles of sound government.

CLARIFYING REEMPLOYMENT PROVISIONS OF THE UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING AND SERVICE ACT

The Clerk called the bill (H.R. 11509) to amend and clarify the reemployment provisions of the Universal Military Training and Service Act, and for other purposes.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill?

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I should ask the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. PRICE], who I assume is in charge of the bill, if it would in any way have anything to do with a report in the newspapers about drafting women for the military services.

Mr. PRICE. No, this merely has to do with providing employment rights for servicemen who, at the request and for the convenience of the Government, voluntarily or involuntarily serve their country for a period not to exceed 12 additional months beyond the present 4-year period for which reemployment rights are normally given.

Mr. GROSS. Has the gentleman heard about a proposal to draft women?

Mr. PRICE. No, I have not heard about that.

Mr. GROSS. I should like to ask another question with respect to employment. The Peace Corps spends a good many thousands of dollars a year maintaining a service for the employment of returning Peace Corps-ites. Does the military provide a special service for returning veterans?

Mr. PRICE. Only in the sense that the Congress, through the Universal Military Training Act passed by the 82d Congress, guarantees their right to reemployment after spending 4—and we hope to extend it to 5—years in the service. This is the only service that the Government provides, and if they have any difficulty in returning to employment, they can go to the Department of Labor and the Department of Labor will assist them in seeing that the law is complied with.

Mr. GROSS. I am unable to understand why there should be a special employment service for members of the Peace Corps, a service that is apparently denied to men who have been in combat.

Mr. PRICE. Of course, the Armed Services Committee has no jurisdiction over the operations of the Peace Corps, either while the men are in service or when they return; this legislation has nothing in the world to do with the Peace Corps.

Mr. GROSS. I am sure my friend from Illinois is interested in whether preferential treatment is being accorded. A serviceman must go to an employment agency to get a job, but with respect to the Peace Corps it has a special agency to assist returning members to get jobs. And I have no doubt that Peace Corps members have priority over combat veterans in employment in the Federal Government.

Mr. PRICE. I do not know what particular legislation that would come under, but I know it is not provided for in this legislation. This legislation would merely extend existing reemployment rights for a period of 1 year to those servicemen in the Reserve and the National Guard who voluntarily extend their services another year.

Mr. GROSS. I regret that the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House has not seen fit to go into this matter, and I would like to urge the Committee on Armed Services to take a look at it.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object.

(Mr. HALL asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks, and to include a portion of the hearings on pages 5316, 5317, and 5318 in connection with the bill.)

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, this legislation is unanimously referred by our Armed Services Committee and Subcommittee. I am for it and know of no objection.

The portions of the hearings are as follows:

Mr. HALL. Mr. Chairman, I have been cognizant of this problem for a long time, both from the point of view of the committee and as a former personnel officer and specifically as a result of complaints of some of the reservists in my district. I think I could document many letters referring to what the admiral mentioned after the Berlin callup; corporations of national stature who happen to be located in the district that I represent were found easing out or dropping people in Ready Reserve status. This of course has flared into the open again as a result (a) of the Navy and Marine Corps involuntary or voluntary extensions and (b) because of the possibility of a general call-up.

Now, I have two questions and I would just as soon both of you would comment on them, both Mr. Bradley and Admiral Shupper.

I think this committee is acutely aware of the fact that there have been people called up and Selective Training and Service Act used for individual filter-trainees and replacements in the line, not necessarily in just the Navy or the Marine Corps, but as you say, this backs up voluntary enlistments in the Navy and the Air Force; rather than calling up Ready Reserve units as indeed was done during the Berlin beefup.

Is this bill, if passed, H.R. 11509, in anywise an additional ruse—and I use the word advisedly—on the part of the Secretary of Defense to keep on active duty people other than petty officers for key, essential positions in the military, rather than resort to calling up the Ready Reserve, the trained Reserve or those that we have spent millions of dollars on in training, simply because the Reserve is being eliminated or dissolved or reassigned by the Secretary of Defense?

Admiral SHUPPER. No, sir, I don't think it is a ruse at all. I think that, naturally, the Department of Defense would like to have key personnel who are in the Reserve on active duty remain to tide us over this period. We do not—

Mr. HALL. If they need them that bad, Admiral, why don't they call up the other reservists and guardsmen that are trained and rotate those that have served 4 years or over in these key spots?

Admiral SHUPPER. Well, sir, it is a matter of having the bird in the hand and it is less disruptive to a man's life to have him voluntarily extend than to call somebody involuntarily who is in civil life and would have to disrupt his entire life to come on active duty.

Mr. HALL. It is also a matter—we didn't consider that in the Berlin beefup. It is also a matter, is it not, Admiral, of having made an unfortunate guesstimate 2 to 3 months before the escalation as a result of the Bay of Tonkin, that we would dissolve the Reserve and therefore embarrassing to have to call them up?

Admiral SHUPPER. Well, sir, I am not in a position to answer that question.

Mr. HALL. You are the personnel officer representing the Department of Defense, aren't you, manpower utilization officer?

Admiral SHUPPER. Yes, sir, but there was no decision made to dissolve the Naval Reserve and no decision made to dissolve the Marine Corps Reserve or the Air Force Reserve as far as I know.

Mr. HALL. Well, let me reframe the question, Admiral. And I want to reassure you again that I am not picking at you personally.

Admiral SHUPPER. Yes, sir, I understand.

Mr. HALL. I do think this point needs to be made in consideration of this legislation. And I want to go one step further and say that I will probably support this legislation because I do know the need for retaining beyond a stipulated time of active duty certain skilled people, electronics, even a good skilled boatswain's mate now and then, or particularly I should say a good skilled boatswain's mate and so forth. And I think I understand the purpose of this bill. But I think in all fairness you can see also that in the congressional responsibility and protecting of the individual and the public that this could get pretty hairy if such legislation is used to continue a policy that is based on internecine or interdepartmental politics or strongman's misstatement rather than equity and justice in callup and/or rotation of personnel. Isn't that a simple, fair statement?

Admiral SHUPPER. Yes, sir; but I don't think that there is any internecine conflict on this. I think all the services desire to try to meet the situation with volunteers if possible. If the situation develops to the point where we cannot, we will naturally have to call the Organized Reserve.

Mr. HALL. Exactly, and I would like very much for you to be able to do that.

I again want to make it clear that I have no sympathy with the employer who doesn't protect the reservist. I was protected for over 8 years when I was on active duty as a reservist by the organization that I left and returned to, despite other opportunities after World War II. And I don't have much respect for big national corporations that are weeding out reservists who participate in a Ready Reserve. This bill would help to correct that, that is why I am for it. But in another context, let me ask you this rather blunt question: Would a declared emergency, either Presidential or congressional, solve this problem and preclude the necessity of such legislation as H.R. 11509, Admiral?

Admiral SHUPPER. No, sir; because a declared emergency would aim at something else. We would still desire to retain voluntarily anyone that we could in preference to having to involuntarily call reservists either in organized units or as augmentation.

Mr. BRADLEY. Maybe I should add to that.

Mr. HALL. Yes, I hoped you would comment on this.

Mr. BRADLEY. On the first part of your question, I should say these amendments originated in the Department of Labor, not in the Department of Defense. We requested the Department of Defense—

Mr. HALL. I understand it is your bill.

Mr. BRADLEY. It is our bill, submitted by us.

Mr. HALL. Submitted by the chairman.

Mr. BRADLEY. And not originating with the Department of Defense with the idea of attempting to keep people in that maybe did not need to be kept in.

With respect to the second question, even if you have a joint resolution and a callup of Reserves, a Reserve who has already served for as much as 4 years, if recalled, would not have reemployment rights under section 9 (g)2 unless this bill is amended. So it is very important that this amendment go through, whether you call up or whether you do not.

If a reservist is called up who has not completed 4 years of service, he would be protected. But if he has already completed his 4 years of service for an absence from a single employer during that period of time, a callup, this legislation would be necessary to protect him.

Mr. HALL. I think that is a very excellent point and I thank you.

Mr. Chairman, I think I have no other questions.

Mr. PRICE. Thank you.

Any other questions, any member of the committee?

Mr. HICKS. Mr. Chairman.

Mr. PRICE. Mr. Hicks.

Mr. HICKS. This chart that you included here, does this all boil down to the fact that you are adding 1 year and that is all?

Mr. BRADLEY. Not to exceed 1 year.

Mr. HICKS. Over the present law.

Mr. BRADLEY. Not to exceed 1 year, but it cannot be at the convenience of the individual, it must be at the convenience of the Government.

Mr. HICKS. Thank you.

Mr. LOVE. In that connection, what is the total time of protection?

Mr. BRADLEY. Four years in the law. This would give an additional 12 months where it was at the convenience of the Government.

Mr. LOVE. That is a total of 5 years.

Mr. BRADLEY. A total of not to exceed 5 years.

Mr. LOVE. Not to exceed five.

Mr. PRICE. They are already protected up to four.

Mr. BRADLEY. We are dealing here with anything that took place after 1961. In 1961 we added an additional 4 years, which terminated in 1965, now you go back to 1961 with this.

Mr. LOVE. It would be a total of 9 years.

Mr. BRADLEY. With the 1961 amendment actually a person could serve 8 years and still be protected under that type of amendment. This is different. This adds only 1 additional year.

Mr. PRICE. Governor Stafford.

Mr. STAFFORD. I have no questions, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. PRICE. I think counsel has one or two questions.

Mr. SLATINSHEK. In connection with the latter subject, the protection of reservists who are perhaps involuntarily called or voluntarily enlist, can you define for purposes of the record what "convenience of the Government" means?

In other words, let's assume I am a reservist in the Army, I volunteer for a period of 1 year because of the Vietnamese crisis, would I be covered?

Mr. BRADLEY. Repeat that, please.

Mr. SLATINSHEK. I am a reservist on inactive duty in the Army Reserve and I feel that my services are necessary and apparently there is a critical skill shortage in my MOS and I decide to volunteer for 1 year's service. Would I be protected?

Mr. BRADLEY. You would be protected.

Mr. SLATINSHEK. And for the legislative record here, what determinant would be "at the convenience of the Government"? Does this require some sort of statement on the part of the Department of Defense?

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There being no objection, the Clerk read the bill, as follows:

H.R. 11509

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That section 9 of the Universal Military Training and Service Act, as amended (50 U.S.C. App. 459), is amended as follows:

(2) Amend section 9(d) by deleting the numeral "(1)" immediately following "subsection (c)."

AUTHORIZING THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR TO TRANSFER
CERTAIN LANDS IN THE STATE OF COLORADO TO THE DEPART-MENT OF AGRICULTURE FOR RECREATION DEVELOPMENT

MAY 27, 1966.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. ALLOTT, from the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, submitted the following

[To accompany H.R. 10451]

The Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, to which was referred the bill (H.R. 10451) to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to transfer certain lands in the State of Colorado to the Department of Agriculture for recreation development, having considered the same, reports favorably thereon without amendment and recommends that the bill do pass.

PURPOSE

H.R. 10451 will transfer 3,880 acres of public land in Summit County, Colo., from administration by the Bureau of Land Management to administration of the Forest Service. The boundaries of the Arapaho National Forest would be revised to include these and certain other lands, and the bill would authorize the Forest Service to enter into cooperative arrangements with the Board of Water Commissioners of the City and County of Denver for the management and development for recreational purposes of the Forest Service land in this area and of adjacent lands owned by the Board of Water Commissioners.

NEED

Dillon Reservoir, at the junction of Blue River and Ten-Mile Creek, has been constructed by the Denver Board of Water Commissioners to increase municipal water supplies. The reservoir, with a 3,300-acre surface and a 26-mile lakeshore, offers an excellent opportunity for recreation development, which would be carried out by the Forest Service in accordance with its existing authority and with such funds as may be appropriated in due course by the Congress. Through enactment of H.R. 10451, one Federal agency will administer adjacent lands which are now administered by two agencies.

2 TRANSFER LANDS IN COLORADO FOR RECREATION DEVELOPMENT

Located within a 2-hour drive for more than 1 million people, the reservoir will offer opportunities for hiking, camping, and boating. Because of its intended use, swimming in the reservoir will not be allowed.

Some of the lands to be transferred to Forest Service administration lie in a long narrow band along the Blue River downstream from Dillon Reservoir; others are immediately around the reservoir and lie between it and the present boundaries of the Arapaho National Forest. The national forest borders these lands on three sides. There are no plans for acquisition of, or for Federal developments which might encroach on, private lands within the new boundaries of the national forest, but it is possible, the committee was advised, that some exchanges of land may be found desirable by private landowners and officials of the Forest Service. If this turns out to be the case, the Forest Service has authority to carry them out. The bill excepts from the transfer to the Forest Service about 275 acres of Bureau of Land Management land within the revised boundaries of the forest since this area has already been subdivided and is to be disposed of by the Bureau of Land Management under the Small Tracts Act.

COST

H.R. 10451 will entail no cost to the Government.

DEPARTMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

Favorable reports of the Department of Agriculture and the Department of the Interior are set forth below:

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
Washington, D.C., May 24, 1966.

HON. HENRY M. JACKSON,
Chairman, Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs,
U.S. Senate.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: This is in response to your April 8, 1966, request for a report on H.R. 10451, a bill to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to transfer certain lands in the State of Colorado to the Department of Agriculture for recreation development, and for other purposes.

We recommend that H.R. 10451 be enacted.

This bill would authorize the Secretary of the Interior to transfer to the Department of Agriculture lands under his jurisdiction needed in connection with development and management of the recreation resources of the Dillon Reservoir, a major impoundment on the Blue River in Colorado constructed by the Board of Water Commissioners of the city and county of Denver. The exterior boundaries of the Arapaho National Forest would be extended to include all those lands within described townships which are not now within the national forest. H.R. 10451 would add to the Arapaho National Forest, subject to existing valid rights, all lands of the United States within the described area except certain specifically described subdivisions known as the Dillon small tract site.

This bill also would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into cooperative arrangements with the Board of Water Commissioners of the City and County of Denver for the development and management of recreation resources at Dillon Reservoir and on adjacent lands within the Arapaho National Forest. Funds available to the Forest Service for forest land management would be available for the construction, operation, maintenance, and administration on water board lands of structures, improvements, and facilities for recreational resource development and use, provided the Secretary obtains the right to use such lands for the estimated life of or need for such improvements.

Land which would be included in the National Forest under the bill comprises some 14,585 acres, of which approximately 3,880 acres are public domain under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Land Management of the Department of the Interior, and 2,780 acres owned by the water board. The remainder is privately owned or included in the Dillon small tract area.

These lands are part of a narrow corridor, 1 to 3 miles wide along the Blue River, bounded on three sides by the Arapaho National Forest. This corridor or narrow finger of land was not included in the national forest when it was proclaimed in 1905. Much of it remains unpatented.

The dam creating the Dillon Reservoir is located within this corridor. The reservoir impoundment extends up into the corridor and also onto national forest land on both sides of the corridor. Within the maximum flow line of the reservoir there are approximately 900 acres of national forest land, 1,750 acres of water board land, and 650 acres of public domain land. Where the reservoir is not within the present boundaries of the national forest the public domain lands and the water board lands form relatively narrow strips between the reservoir and national forest lands.

The reservoir is in the filling stage and forms a highly attractive body of water that is already beginning to receive heavy public recreational use. Suitable recreation areas on nearby national forest lands are being improved to accommodate the growing public use. But the areas lying between the national forest and the reservoir are not being developed. Of the some 830 acres which ultimately should be intensively developed for visitor accommodation and to assure sanitation and public safety, over 80 percent are now national forest lands. In most instances the water board lands involved would be relatively narrow shoreline strips or small tracts adjoining national forest lands.

There is urgent need for unified management of all the public lands related to the reservoir to assure correlated and planwise development in the most effective and economical way, and to permit efficient protection and administration of the recreational and land management complex of which the reservoir is a part. Existing patterns in land ownership and jurisdiction result in illogical divisions of single sites that should be developed as units. In several instances, narrow rims or small areas of public domain or water board lands lie between the lakeshore and national forest sites being developed or planned for development for public accommodation.

Timely accomplishment of a coordinated plan to develop and maintain recreational resources centering around the Dillon Reservoir, and correlation thereof with protection and use of surrounding national forest lands, which provide attractive environment and added public use opportunities, will be greatly facilitated by placing all related federally owned lands in the area in the national forest. Integrated development and use of all the reservoir shorelines will be made possible by section 3 of the bill which will permit the Forest Service to develop and manage water board lands which are intermingled with the Federal lands.

In addition to making cooperative arrangements with the water board for the development and management of the recreation resources under section 3, the Forest Service will request the State to aid in providing recreation developments for the area.

The Bureau of the Budget advises that there is no objection to the presentation of this report from the standpoint of the administration's program.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN A. SCHNITTKER, Acting Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY,
Washington, D.C., May 23, 1966.

HON. HENRY M. JACKSON,
*Chairman, Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs,
U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C.*

DEAR SENATOR JACKSON: This responds to your request for this Department's report on H.R. 10451, a bill to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to transfer certain lands in the State of Colorado to the Department of Agriculture for recreation development, and for other purposes, which passed the House of Representatives on March 7, 1966.

The bill authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to transfer to the Department of Agriculture some 3,880 acres of public lands, which would thereupon become part of the Arapaho National Forest. The exterior boundaries of the Arapaho National Forest are to be extended to include all lands within certain townships not now in the forest. The bill adds to the forest all Federal lands within the described area except certain lands called the Dillon small tract site. The Federal lands which would be added to the forest are the 3,880 acres mentioned above. The bill also authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to make cooperative arrangements with the Board of Water Commissioners of the City and County of Denver for the development and management of the recreation resources of the Dillon Reservoir and adjacent lands within the Arapaho National Forest. Funds hereafter appropriated and available to the Forest Service for forest land management will be available for the construction, operation, and maintenance on lands of the water board of recreational facilities under certain conditions.

The basic purpose of the bill is to facilitate the development and management of these lands by the Federal Government and the Board of Water Commissioners of the City and County of Denver. The lands have high recreation value arising from the construction of the Dillon Reservoir on the Blue River by the water board.

Approximately 3,880 acres of the lands which would become part of the national forest are public domain under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Land Management. These lands are part of a narrow corridor, 1 to 3 miles wide along the Blue River, bounded on three sides by the Arapaho National Forest. This corridor was not included in the forest when it was established in 1905. The addition of the approximately 3,880 acres to the national forest, in the light of the other holdings of the Forest Service in the area, would aid in the development and management of the recreational resources of the Dillon Reservoir and consequently is desirable.

The Bureau of Land Management and the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture have made detailed land adjustment studies in this area designed to simplify administration and improve manpower utilization and resource management. As a result of these studies, the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture have agreed that all the public domain lands in the Blue River corridor now under Bureau of Land Management administration should be transferred to the Forest Service. This involves about 15,891 acres, of which the 3,880 acres covered by the bill are a part. We recommend the enactment of the House-passed bill. We assume that the Forest Service will propose legislation to authorize the transfer of the remaining lands at a later date.

In another phase of this same adjustment, agreement has been reached to transfer by administrative action 3,200 acres in the Arapaho and White River National Forests to the Department of the Interior. After a similar study, agreement has also been reached to transfer by administrative action about 20,000 acres of national forest land completely surrounded by Bureau of Land management administered public land to the Department of the Interior.

The Bureau of the Budget has advised that there is no objection to the presentation of this report from the standpoint of the administration's program.

Sincerely yours,

HARRY R. ANDERSON,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

THE CALENDAR

Mr. LONG of Louisiana. Mr. President, a number of bills are on the calendar to which I do not believe there will be any objection. They have been cleared on both sides of the aisle.

I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to consider calendar orders Nos. 1154 through 1159, inclusive.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Young of Ohio in the chair). Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Louisiana? The Chair hears none, and it is so ordered.

TRANSFER OF CERTAIN LANDS IN COLORADO TO DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The bill (H.R. 10451) to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to transfer certain lands in the State of Colorado to the Department of Agriculture for recreation development, and for other purposes was announced as next in order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill?

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

DILLON RESERVOIR

Mr. ALLOTT. Mr. President, I appreciate the opportunity to make this statement in support of H.R. 10451 which I was pleased to report favorably from the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. The purpose of this measure is to provide for the transfer of 3,380 acres of land in Summit County, Colo., now administered by the Bureau of Land Management to the administration of the Forest Service, and to revise the boundaries of Arapahoe National Forest to include these and some other lands. Also, it would authorize the Forest Service to enter into cooperative arrangements with the Denver Board of Water Commissioners for the management and development of recreational facilities around the Dillon Reservoir.

The Dillon Reservoir is owned by the city and county of Denver and is administered by the Denver Board of Water Commissioners, and is an important part of the municipal water system. The dam is located just downstream from the confluence of 10 Mile Creek and the Upper Blue River, which are tributaries of the Colorado River. Because of its location it required the removal of the town of Dillon to a new site, since the old site is now covered by about 150 to 160 feet of water. There are two other small communities near the lake; Frisco located upstream on 10 Mile Creek, and Silverthorne which is just below the new townsite of Dillon. In addition, Breckenridge, which is upstream from Dillon on the Blue River, is developing into a fine winter sports area. All of these communities are essentially resort communities at the present time.

I have had occasion to be in Dillon earlier this year. It has a magnificent setting with some of the Nation's highest mountain peaks surrounding it. The water is clear and pure, and the 26 miles of shorelines are well forested. The reservoir was quite full, and I am informed that it has been necessary to spill some of the water because of the excellent moisture harvest of last year.

The Dillon Reservoir offers one of the finest recreation development opportunities in the United States. It is within a 2-hour drive of more than 1 million people, and the development proposal of the Forest Service will furnish outstanding opportunities for camping, hiking, and boating. However, since the reservoir waters are destined for domestic use in the Denver metropolitan area, swimming will not be allowed.

Under the provisions of this bill, the Arapahoe National Forest will be expanded by some 14,585 acres, of which approximately 3,880 acres are public domain and about 2,780 acres are owned by the Denver Water Board. The remainder is privately owned or included in the Dillon small tract area. The Dillon small tract area is an area of about 275 acres that has been subdivided and disposed of by the Bureau of Land Management for cabin sites. This tract is excluded from the provisions of the bill.

As I have indicated, both the Bureau of Land Management and the Forest Service are administering the land within this area. This dual administration and operation is not desirable. Because of the extensive jurisdiction of the Forest Service within the area, and because the Forest Service and the Denver Water Board have formulated a development proposal, it was deemed administratively wise to transfer the Bureau of Land Management lands to the single administrative management of the Forest Service.

Of the many communications I have received relative to this legislation, only one was in opposition. This gentleman from Denver expressed his opposition to water skiers. I would assume that the exclusion of swimming will resolve this one objection. With this one exception, support for this measure appears to be both vigorous and universal, and I have received strong endorsements from the mayor of Dillon, the president of the Dillon Chamber of Commerce, and the Denver Board of Water Commissioners.

It is my understanding that both the Department of the Interior and the Department of Agriculture are favorably disposed toward this legislation. It is my hope and belief that Forest Service administration of the area will provide an effective and amicable relationship between the private enterprise segment and the Government-owned segment which will together develop this excellent recreation area to its finest and fullest potential.

Mr. DOMINICK. Mr. President, I am happy to support the remarks just made by my distinguished senior colleague [Mr. ALLOTT] regarding H.R. 10451 and I join in urging the expeditious passage of this bill and I congratulate my colleague for having successfully brought this matter to the floor of the Senate at a rapid rate.

The Dillon Reservoir, which is surrounded by forest land and the magnificent Colorado mountains, comprises one of the most beautiful settings imaginable. This area is within easy driving distance of our State's largest metropolitan area and is in an area which attracts thousands of tourists from all parts of the country. This area unquestionably offers one of the greatest recreational development opportunities in the country.

The transfer of the administration of this land to the Forest Service makes good sense from an administrative point of view, and I am hopeful that this bill will lead to the harmonious and beneficial development of this potentially great recreational area.

Mr. LONG of Louisiana. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD an excerpt from the report (No. 1188), explaining the purposes of the bill.

There being no objection, the excerpt was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

PURPOSE

H.R. 10451 will transfer 3,880 acres of public land in Summit County, Colo., from administration by the Bureau of Land Management to administration of the Forest Service. The boundaries of the Arapahoe National Forest would be revised to include these and certain other lands, and the bill would authorize the Forest Service to enter into cooperative arrangements with the Board of Water Commissioners of the City and County of Denver for the management and development for recreational purposes of the Forest Service land in this area and of adjacent lands owned by the Board of Water Commissioners.

NEED

Dillon Reservoir, at the junction of Blue River and Ten-Mile Creek, has been constructed by the Denver Board of Water Commissioners to increase municipal water supplies. The reservoir, with a 3,300-acre surface and a 26-mile lakeshore, offers an excellent opportunity for recreation development, which would be carried out by the Forest Service in accordance with its existing authority and with such funds as may be appropriated in due course by the Congress. Through enactment of H.R. 10451, one Federal agency will administer adjacent lands which are now administered by two agencies.

Located within a 2-hour drive for more than 1 million people, the reservoir will offer opportunities for hiking, camping, and boating. Because of its intended use, swimming in the reservoir will not be allowed.

Some of the lands to be transferred to Forest Service administration lie in a long narrow band along the Blue River downstream from Dillon Reservoir; others are immediately around the reservoir and lie between it and the present boundaries of the Arapahoe National Forest. The national forest borders these lands on three sides. There are no plans for acquisition of, or for Federal developments which might encroach on, private lands within the new boundaries of the national forest, but it is possible, the committee was advised, that some exchanges of land may be found desirable by private landowners and officials of the Forest Service. If this turns out to be the case, the Forest Service has authority to carry them out. The bill excepts from the transfer to the Forest Service about 275 acres of Bureau of Land Management land within the revised boundaries of the forest since this area has already been subdivided and is to be disposed of by the Bureau of Land Management under the Small Tracts Act.

COST

H.R. 10451 will entail no cost to the Government.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill is before the Senate and open to amendment. If there be no amendment to be proposed, the question is on the third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.
